DraftSight User Review: "It is used by a private individual. They don't know anything about him, and I didn't know he even existed." Cassandra A. Radnitz, NXT Executive Vice President and NXNE Executive Committee member, gave a negative review of the phone's first sale. She also stated that if so much time was spent on tests, why were other device capabilities not used? In December, NXE paid legal fees to resolve a problem that arose for the first time. The phone was released on January 18, 2008. Initially presented in 13 colors. They include black, red, yellow, green, blue, orange, purple and pink. They are part of a lineup in honor of American singer-songwriter Rod Stewart. Draft technology allows you to create one new model during development for each of the surrounding models. This saves a lot of time. The mobile phone can also be changed depending on the user's requirements. To do this, it is placed in a special box with a zipper, and then sent directly to the manufacturer.
