"The power and accuracy of the fully-animated player movement in FIFA 22 is a substantial improvement over previous iterations," said Matt Bilbey, Senior Producer on the FIFA franchise. "The entire team at EA SPORTS is excited to give players the chance to experience life-like, true-to-gameplay football in FIFA 22." FIFA Premier League features a strong focus on real-world football with players from eight real-world clubs in England's Premier League, including Chelsea, Manchester City, Manchester United, West Ham United, Everton, Arsenal, Newcastle United and Leicester City. View the full trailer on YouTube: The trailer showcases a host of player animations as well as some talented highlights that show the new moves players can perform in-game. New additions to the player model include realistic arm flaps and realistic foot stomps as well as more dynamic animations for players to control the ball with their feet and body. FIFA 22 includes 20 more realistic player models compared to FIFA 21 as it uses motion capture data to deliver a more authentic and advanced player model. This improved realism now includes detailed feet, accurate flexibility, ball contact and realistic player movement. Additions to animations include new techniques to control the ball with the feet, balance, body position, pitch awareness and more advanced body movement. New player models include: Chadrac Samba - Angers SCO (France, 22 years old) Ali Al-Habsi - Al-Hilal (Qatar, 38 years old) Zlatan Ibrahimovic - AC Milan (Sweden, 34 years old) Dele Alli - Tottenham Hotspur (England, 21 years old) Julian Dickshaw - Brighton & Hove Albion (England, 23 years old) Raphael Guerreiro - Ajax (Portugal, 27 years old) Eden Hazard - Chelsea (Belgium, 28 years old) Adama Traore - Arsenal (Senegal, 23 years old) Ezequiel Ponce - Tigres (Mexico, 24 years old) Alex Iwobi - Arsenal (England, 23 years old) Steven Defour - Bournemouth (Netherlands, 30 years old) Victor Moses - Chelsea (Nigeria, 25 years old)

Features Key:

- Over 170 Best XI players and legends

- FIFA 2K PLAYER MATCH PREPARATION: A new in-game engine uses a more accurate and detailed physical model of the match area and an expanded set of tools to create a more realistic and challenging environment. This includes new animation sets, goalkeepers and their new off-post range of motion.
 - PLAYER TECHNOLOGY: New Hybrid 3D Pitch Digitizer (HP TDI) as the new surface coverage. This plays back the match data more quickly, and more naturally, making it feel more unpredictable.
 - DYNAMIC 3D OBJECTS: A new “Flying Objects” motion system. A range of new physics-based aircraft are supported by a pioneering 3D environment interaction system. Responsive smoke, fire, birds and fireworks made possible by impact deformation data
